Church construction progressing well

Construction is well underway on the new St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, located at the corner of 48th Avenue and 54th Street, Elk Point. The framework is now closed in, roofing has been installed and siding, plumbing and electrical wiring are to be added in the near future.

With a total area of approximately 4340 square feet, the main floor is made up of two sections, the church on the south and an adjoining hall with kitchen facilities on the north, plus a full basement under the entire structure. The main entrance, topped with a graceful spire, is to the west, and offers a beautiful prairie view. The building is wheelchair accessible, and also contains a cry room, priest's office and small living quarters, to eventually accommodate a resident priest.

The project is an exciting one for all parishioners, as it has been several years in the planning stages. Completion is expected by early spring of 1998.

In the meantime, masses are still being held in the original church at 12:00 noon each Sunday. The parish priest is Father Martin Badiola, who also serves congregations at Lafond and Brosseau. Catechism classes are taught by parish parents, and there is a small choir under the direction of Gabrielle Bayduza. Members of the St. Michael's parish and the Elk Point United Church have joined in past years for an Interfaith Carol Service prior to Christmas.

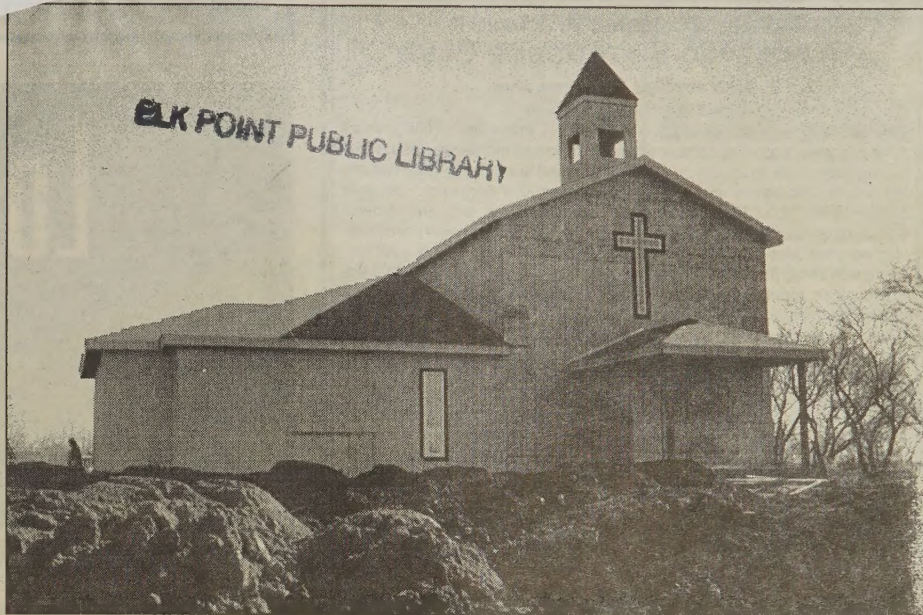

Funds for the new church have been raised through bake sales, but the majority of funds are now being raised through bingos and Sunday collections. Many members, past and present, have donated generously to the building fund as well.

The St. Michael's Parish Council consists of eight members, with Ed Poulin (724-2057) as president, Orest Sereda (724-3735) as secretary, and Erika Bender (724-4022) as treasurer. Any questions regarding the parish may be directed to these individuals.

Business of the Year nominees sought by Elk Point Chamber

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is now seeking nominees for their 1997 Small Business of the Year award. The award is given each year to a business which goes the extra mile to provide good service to its customers, in recognition of the dedication and effort that goes into its operation. Letters of nomination, stating the name of the business you feel deserves the award, and the reasons it stands out in the business community, should be mailed to the Chamber at Box 639, Elk Point, AB, T0A 1A0, or faxed to the Chamber at 724-4211. All nominations must be signed and include the phone number of the person sending the nomination.

The Chamber is also still seeking a quorum. Only six members attended last week's meeting, which meant that no official business could be transacted at the meeting. With over forty paid up members on the roster, the Chamber requires just ten of these to be present to conduct a meeting. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, October 15 at 12:00 noon in the Empress Banquet Room. Please mark your calendars and attend.

ST. MICHAEL'S ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH will soon make its new home in this handsome structure now under construction on the west side of Elk Point. The classic spire pointing skyward will be an attractive addition to the Elk Point skyline.

Arena shaping up for another season

By Doug Bassett
Review Contributor

Things are really starting to shape up at the A. G. Ross Arena for another season. The volunteers are busy with weekly work-bees, cleaning, painting and doing minor maintenance that is necessary every year to ensure the equipment is going to last the season, and that everything will go smoothly without a major breakdown in the middle of a tournament. Last week's work-bee the ice surface was washed down by the volunteer fire department, doing another great job as they do every year. Thanks, boys!

On the agenda at the A. G. Ross Operating Committee annual meeting held on September 23 was the election of officers. Returning this year, Dave Cousins will remain as president and Yvette Bochon as treasurer. Newcomer from Stettler, Tammy Anderson volunteered to do the job as secretary when Donna Bassett stepped down after serving for three years. Jerry Kopeck will continue to head up the maintenance team.

With an operating budget of $100,000 a year, including $53,000 in utilities, insurance, taxes, etc. and $17,000 in loan payments and interest for the new addition, the operating committee is always working on ways to break even. This year the committee will try to rely on the user groups, Minor Hockey, the Skating Club and Commercial teams to pay more for ice time to cover costs. What this will mean is the operating committee will charge more for ice time but do less special events. The user groups will have to do their own fundraising to cover their costs. Minor Hockey will now pay $250 per child, the Skating Club will pay $200 per child and commercial hockey rates were increased by 10 percent.

The concession booth that brings an average annual revenue of $25,000 will still operate as it has in the past, with a volunteer sign-up sheet posted, but this year if the shifts are not filled by Thursday night, and after phoning the families involved without any response, the booth will remain closed unless the team playing volunteers to operate it. This should make things a little easier when games are scheduled on short notice. This year Helene Brodbin has volunteered to be the booth workers coordinator and Terry Kopeck will be in charge of stocking the booth with supplies.

Another major source of income, the wall signs, will also be increased from $75 to $100. With all the new businesses in town, Kevin Bjornstad, in charge of the sign committee, has set a goal of adding ten new signs.

Returning again this year, Keith Campbell has taken the position of caretaker, but now has taken on a partner, his brother-in-law Kerry Loughran, who will help relieve the pressure of the seven-day-a-week job.

On the first of October, the ice makers started the plant to cool down the ice surface, and started the flooding a few days ago. Skating will start, weather permitting, after the Thanksgiving weekend.

So sharpen your skates, air out that stinky hockey bag and start training for another season in your "home away from home," the good old Thunderdome!

Sorry, wrong teacher

In last week's story regarding the F. G. Miller High School graduation, the teachers lighting graduate Amber Kopek's candle were identified as Colin Bjorkman and Maureen Ference. They were actually Colin Bjorkman and Cheri Lindquist. Our apologies to all concerned.

Let's Give Thanks

ANYONE INTERESTED IN JOINING A REGISTERED SNOWMOBILE CLUB

To: Elk Point and Surrounding Areas
Subject: Snowmobile Club

This letter is intended for all of you Snowmobilers. In the last couple of years there has been a growing number of people taking up this winter hobby. With all the interest we have seen in the Elk Point and surrounding area, we are trying to find out if there is enough people interested in starting our very own Snowmobile Club. This Club would be registered with the Alberta Snowmobile Association, a registration fee of $25.00 for a family membership per year, plus a $25.00 club fee per year, totalling $50.00 per year fee. Along with being part of a registered Snowmobile Club, there are many benefits such as, reduced hotel rates, vehicle insurance, plus gives us a chance to visit other clubs, participate in scheduled trail rides, etc. If possible, by October 27, 1997 we would like to hear from as many interested people as possible, once we have a final number, a decision will be made based on replies to this letter, a process will be started with the help from a representative from the Alberta Snowmobile Association to start up our own club. If this Club is a go, please watch the local paper, a notice that a Club is started will be posted.

Thanksgiving Day — next Monday

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

It is our Canadian custom to celebrate next Monday, the second Monday in October, as our Thanksgiving Day. It is so nice to have a day set aside for us to acknowledge our gratitude for everything we have received.

Probably, the first thing most of you will put on your list of what you are thankful for, is your family. That is why the Thanksgiving Dinner is important. Why, it is the time the family can be around the table and enjoy (traditionally), a nice turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

It is nice to recognize our families — they are our "winners." There is a story told in the third serving of the book, "Chicken Soup for the Soul," titled "Recognize Your Winners," by Don Martin. Fran Tarkenton, former Minnesota Vikings quarterback, once called a play that required him to block onrushing tacklers.

NFL quarterbacks almost never block. They're usually vastly outweighed by defenders, so blocking exposes them to the risk of severe injury.

But the team was behind, and a surprise play was needed. Tarkenton went in to block, and the runner scored a touchdown. The Vikings won the game.

Watching the game films with the team the next day, Tarkenton expected a big pat on the back for what he'd done.

It never came.

After the meeting, Tarkenton approached coach Bud Grant and asked, "You saw my block, didn't you, Coach? How come you didn't say anything about it?"

Grant replied, "Sure, I saw the block. It was great. But you're always working hard out there, Fran. I figured I didn't have to tell you."

"Well," Tarkenton replied, "if you ever want me to block again, you do!"

I like this story because it reminds me of our families. We should never take for granted all the things our families mean to us. It is my hope that at this Thanksgiving time, we will acknowledge our families by expressing our gratitude for all they mean to us.

Have a happy Thanksgiving, everyone!

Flu season is almost here — are you protected?

Influenza is a disease caused by a virus that gives its victims symptoms such as fever, headache, sore muscles, exhaustion, stuffed up nose, sore throat and cough. Nausea, vomiting and diarrhea may or may not be present. This virus is easily spread through coughing and sneezing and even coming in direct contact with any nasal discharge.

In Alberta, influenza usually arrives in early November and lasts until at least March. Therefore, it is important for all those individuals who are at high risk of severe disease, as well as those who care for those individuals, receive an influenza vaccination

Notice of Public Meetings

Re: Review of agricultural lease issues on public land

As part of the Alberta Government's commitment to review the agricultural lease issues on public land, an Agricultural Lease Review Committee has been established and public meetings have been scheduled.

On March 26, 1997, Premier Klein appointed Tom Thurber, MLA, Drayton Valley - Calmar to chair the committee. On May 27, 1997, the Honourable Ed Stelmach, Minister of Agriculture, Food and Rural Development, named four additional members to the committee. They are: Marlene Graham, MLA, Calgary Loughheed; Barry McFarland, MLA, Little Bow; Paul Langevin, MLA, Lac La Biche - St. Paul; and, Ivan Strang, MLA, West Yellowhead. The committee will be reporting directly to the Ministers of Environmental Protection and Alberta Agriculture, Food and Rural Development.

The public meetings are to review issues affecting public land in the settled or White Area. Agricultural lease rates, as well as access control and associated compensation, are examples of discussion topics. Other topics that arise from public input will also be reviewed.

The public meetings will start with a one and one-half hour long open house during which government staff can provide information, and clarification of existing policies and procedures. Following the open house, an open meeting with the Agricultural Lease Review Committee will be held. Individuals or groups are invited to express their concerns, views and solutions. A written presentation, to accompany oral presentations, would be appreciated by the review committee. Those wishing to make presentations are encouraged to book a time with the review committee prior to the meeting. Those who have not booked a time to make a presentation will be included at the end of the meeting, time permitting.

Afternoon meetings will consist of an open house from 12:00 - 1:30 p.m., followed by the public meeting at 1:30 p.m. Evening meetings will consist of an open house from 5:30 - 7:00 p.m., followed by the public meeting at 7:00 p.m.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK • OCTOBER 5-11, 1997

It all begins here

Now, that's a big statement, but the Newspaper Association of America has chosen "It all starts with newspapers" for its 1997 National Newspaper Week theme, and we're inclined to agree.

For example, many of us hit the pages of a newspaper before we're a week old, via the birth announcements. As we grow, we attend Playschool and Parent Nursery, not to mention Storytime at the Library, and our activities are back in the news again. We start school, and our activities, both scholastically and in sports, are chronicled from time to time in the news. Our spare time activities, whether we're involved in skating or hockey at the arena, Ukrainian Dancing, Brownies and Guides, Beavers, Cubs and Scouts, 4-H clubs, ball or soccer teams, are also deserving of mention in print and photos.

As our school days come to an end, and the local paper congratulates us on our graduation, we go out into the world, quite possibly finding a job from an advertisement in that same paper. In our spare time, we get involved with everything from sports teams to the volunteer fire department to the church groups, and we're back in the news again.

As seniors, we're still in the news, with our activities, our floor curling, our landmark birthday celebrations.

Newspapers chronicle our lives in a very special way and preserve the history of a community on a day to day basis.

Bountiful harvest

We have a lot to be thankful for at this harvest time of year, as we bring in the produce of our fields and gardens. Mrs. Harry Shymkiw is proud to display some enormous potatoes, weighing 3 6/10 and 4 pounds. The total weight of potatoes in just one hill equalled 8 1/2 pounds.

Letter to the Editor

Farewell to a gracious lady

Dear Editor:

My aunt, Ila Borowsky, slipped away today, September 22, in Elk Point after a long life. She had known tragedy in her life, with the death of her mother when she was still a child and serious illness that had cost her young sister Mildred her hearing. But she had an indomitable spirit and became a school teacher and farm wife, librarian, local historian and community worker. She never had her own children but she educated thousands. And she educated me.

Our family comes from a long line of teachers. I think her mother was a teacher in the United States and so was her stepmother, Blanche Markstad. Her sisters Hattie, Alta, Esther and Mildred became teachers too and so did her step-sister Doris. Of the next generation down, several also became teachers including Janet and Bev. And I, Bev, learned a few good teaching tips from her. It seems odd to think of them now since Calgary Public School system is on the verge of a teachers' strike. It seems odd to think of her dying now, at a time when the role of teacher and the value of teaching is being reassessed in the media. I admired her because she taught me that people matter, not things, and she lived it. When I was small she invited me from Calgary and my Edmonton cousin to come by bus to Derwent to her and Max's farm and we had a glorious week of laughter, riding the tractor and marvelling at farm life. I was amazed that she could both teach school and be such a good cook, that she could lay a spread for a big crowd and still tell me that however tired she was, it was important to make the lesson plans for the next day and that I would never regret it. I did that, and I didn't regret it.

She showed me by her regal stature and her immaculate appearance that it was possible to be just simply classic. Her shocking white hair despite youthful physique and vibrant personality were an inspiration to me how to age with verve and joy. She cared about education — her students', her family's, her community's. I was leafing through the local history book she helped write and noting how this project captured history that might otherwise have been forgotten. She sent me a violin when she heard I was studying music. She sent me salt packets and brochures about salt production when she heard that I was studying this in school. And as she aged her beautiful handwriting still graced cards to us and letters, for years and years. What does it mean to be a teacher? There is something in what she was that goes beyond pouring information into people or even in getting people to think. There was in her also a whole life of learning, a love of sharing the joy of learning, and amazingly she carried off the whole thing not at all looking bookish and dowdy but looking like a regal beauty. I will miss her.

Nutrition notes

By Shelley Miller-Hertes, RD
Elk Point Health Centre

Dysphagia is the loss or impaired ability to chew and/or swallow related to structural or functional abnormalities of the oropharynx, esophagus or esophagogastric region.

Dysphagia may result from a stroke, a closed head injury, multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease ALS (amyotrophic lateral sclerosis), cerebral palsy, head or neck cancer, Alzheimer's disease or Huntington's disease.

Signs and symptoms of dysphagia are: unexplained weight loss, reflux of food through the nose, mouth or tracheostomy; drooling or excessive secretions; pocketing of food in the cheek, under the tongue, or on the roof of the mouth; excessive tongue movement or tongue thrust, resulting in spitting out of food; coughing or choking before, during or after swallowing; gargled voice after eating and/or drinking; refusal to eat; prolonged mealtimes; or the sensation that food is "stuck in the throat."

If you recognize these signs or symptoms, then dysphagia may be present. It is recommended you consult professional medical advice for this condition. By adjusting the texture and consistency of foods and liquids, the person with dysphagia can eat a balanced, nutritious diet.

The Crusader column

By Tim Hudy and Trevor Cardinal
FGM Student Journalists

It's been one full month of school now for the Crusaders and this past week has been very exciting.

Mr. O'Neill's grade sevens, class of 2003, sealed up their time capsule on September 30th. One of the things that was included was a 35 minute video of all of them in grade one, grade two, grade five and grade seven. His grade eight Agriculture students enjoyed going to the campsite by the North Saskatchewan River for a beef dinner on October 3 as part of their beef unit.

As for renovations, the school is supposed to have heat put in any day now. Also, classes will be moving to the south end, and the new student area will be ready by the end of October.

On Wednesday, October 8, six cross-country runners will be participating in zones. Those runners are: Spencer Easthope, Chris Swedgan, Chad West, Mike Povaschuk, Ben Peterson and Chris Fontaine. Good luck! If they place in the top twelve, they will go to provincials. In volleyball, the Senior High teams will be travelling to Saddle Lake on October 8th. The Junior High Crusaders will be hosting Myrnam on October 9th and the grade seven teams are starting to practice at noon hours.

F. G. Miller had seat belt demonstrations done by the RCMP and their "assimilator." The "assimilator" is a device that gives the impact of a 20 MPH collision. Many students and staff took the opportunity to experience this feeling and many of these people, as well as the ones watching, were convinced of the effectiveness of a seatbelt. The RCMP also served free hot dogs and pop to the students and staff of F. G. Miller.

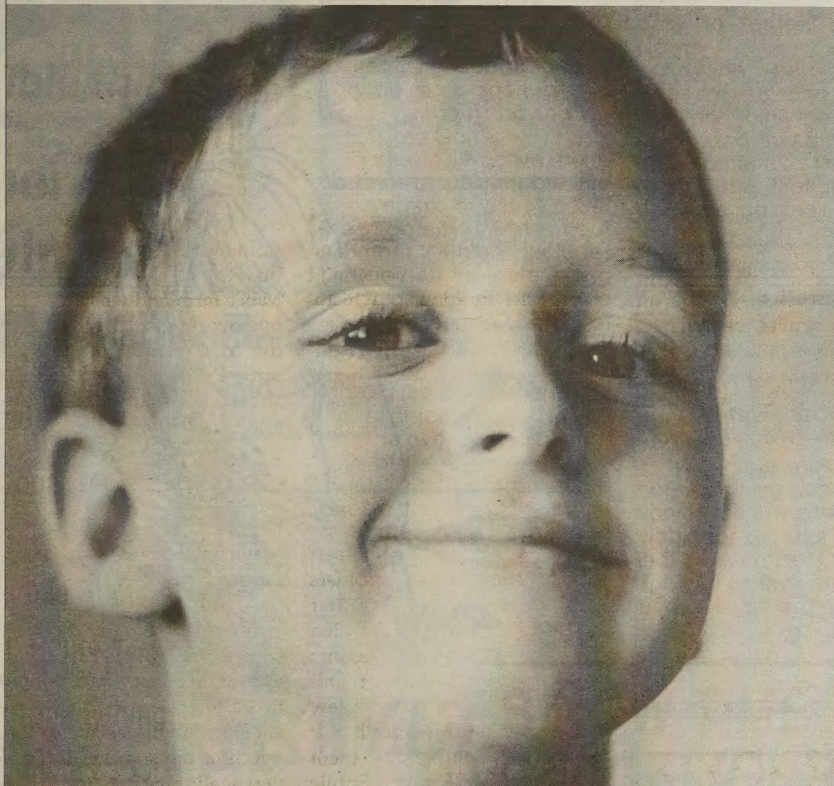

The Above the Limit winners for the month of September are: Brian Goo, Bronwyn Bilak, Dayna Yaremkevich, Mary Easthope, Helen Wilcox, Jaylene Purdy, Joanne deMoissac, Garret Poulin, April Gusnowski, Kristy Myshaniuk, Charise Kinneberg, Jon Marcoux, Michelle Friesen and Michelle Hutton. Great work, people! Students of the Week for October 6 to 10 are Aileen Harper and Melvin Easthope.

The October Newsletter was handed out Friday. If your family did not receive one, please let the office know and we will send one home for you. With regards to the newsletter, early dismissal on Thursday, Oct. 9 was missed and the Parent Council meeting on Oct. 8 is at 7:00 p.m., not 7:30 p.m. as indicated in the newsletter.

Well, that's all for now, look out for next week's column!

KNOW-IT-ALL.

Why shouldn't you hold the fridge open while deciding what to eat?

What happens when you overload electrical outlets?

What does coal have to do with how electricity is made?

Alberta Power has developed award winning teaching resources to compliment the Alberta school curriculum.

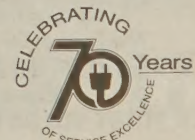

Through our school program, students from Kindergarten to Grade 10 learn about the ins and outs of energy. The production and distribution of it. How to conserve it and protect our environment. And how to be power safe.

When it comes to power, we want children to be know-it-alls and proud of it. Because the more they know, the further our energy will go.

FIRE CHIEF - KEN PALAMAREK
and the

ELK POINT VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPT.

For their continued and unceasing efforts to provide the citizens of Elk Point and District with fire protection and rescue service. Your contribution to the community's safety is much appreciated — keep up the good work! Your ongoing efforts are very much appreciated.

"Business as usual" for Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department

It's been "business as usual" during the past year for the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department, according to Fire Chief Ken Palamarek. There has basically been "no increase and no decrease" in the number of calls coming to the department, compared to other years.

The 23-member crew has answered 16 alarms (including seven false alarms) within town limits, and has taken part in six rescues as well as fighting 29 county fires this year.

The fire department's membership roster is, as usual, always changing, as former members retire and new volunteers come on board. "We're always looking for new members," Palamarek says. "We'd like to have 25 firefighters on the roster." The volunteer fire department meets each Monday evening for fire practice. Anyone interested in joining the department is invited to contact Palamarek for further details on this worthwhile opportunity to serve this growing community.

Know when to go: React fast to fire

The actions taken once a fire is discovered depends on the type of housing you live in and the type of pre-planning for such emergencies. A small, containable fire can grow into a life-threatening one within minutes, so it's crucial to be prepared before a fire occurs. Whether you reach safety or become a victim of the fire is also subject to many factors. Research shows males have a higher tendency than females to fight fires, return to burning buildings, remain behind to rescue property or move through smoke. These behaviors are reflected in fire death statistics which show twice as many males dying in fires than females. Researchers have also confirmed the value of fire safety education. They found that people who had received previous training on what to do in a fire were more likely to raise the alarm or evacuate as the first action in a fire emergency. The numerous lives saved by children taught "Learn Not To Burn," a program designed to teach fire and burn safety in schools, also confirms that prior knowledge about fire dangers can be a life saver.

Reacting fast to fire is vital. Fires grow rapidly, given the highly combustible interiors of modern homes filled with carpets, plastic laminates, paper products, furniture, drapery, etc. Smoke generated from the burning of such materials, while extremely toxic, is also black, reducing visibility and preventing quick evacuation.

This year's Fire Prevention Week theme, "Know When to Go: React Fast to Fire," is a timely reminder of the perils of facing a fire situation. So, what would you do in a home fire emergency? The only answer is -- be prepared: become knowledgeable about fire hazards and prevent them; install, test and maintain smoke alarms; and put a fire escape plan into practice. Your life could depend on it.

"Know When to Go!"

- Install smoke alarms in your home. Maintain and test them to ensure they are working regularly.
- Develop a fire escape plan for your home. Practice it with your family.
- Wherever you are, take early warning signs of fire seriously.

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE ...

But do you have adequate supply ... close enough to control a blaze on the farm until help arrives?

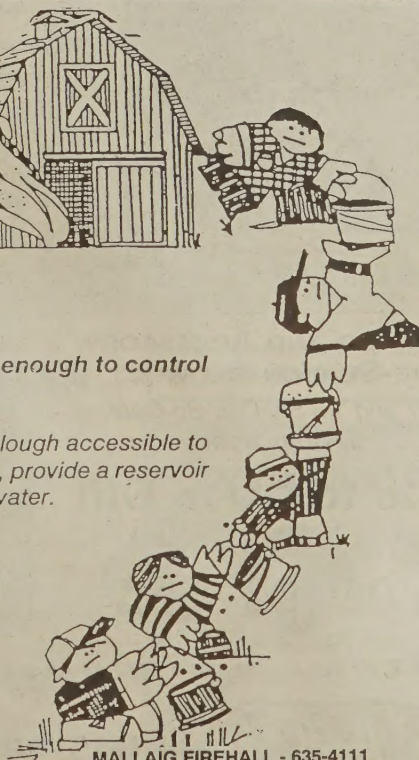

If you don't have a swimming pool, creek or slough accessible to you, and to the fire department when it arrives, provide a reservoir or dugout for that flame-dousing life-saving water.

What's news at the library?

It's that pumpkin time of year, Charlie Brown

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

Now that October is here, thoughts turn to the two major holidays that happen this month. Strangely enough, both holidays involve pumpkins. Thus, the library is looking for a couple of generous souls who have a pumpkin or two lying around doing nothing but looking orange for our Halloween Jack-o-lantern display. They will be painted, carved, and otherwise defaced in a number of fashions by the kids at Storytime. If you have a pumpkin or two to spare, please contact the library.

Speaking of pumpkins, the library has just received two new books that will help to create the finest Jack-o-lanterns in the neighborhood. Pumpkin Carving by Edward Palmer contains over three dozen patterns for pumpkins ranging from truly gruesome to just plain silly. For those of you who don't want the mess of carving we have Pumpkin Painting by Jordan McKinney has over 70 eye-catching designs from the traditional Halloween fare to a turkey for Thanksgiving and a couple just for autumn.

If decorating pumpkins isn't your line, but interior decorating is, Step-By-Step Decorative Painting by Peter and Paula Knott contains detailed instructions for creating a variety of painted finishes, from the very simple to the more complex faux finishes.

Diane Francis takes us behind the headlines to give us a look at what went on with one of the greatest investment scandals of recent memory in Bre-X: The Inside Story.

New in children's nonfiction:

Mousetracks: A Kid's Computer Idea Book by Peggy L Steinhauer contains over 70 kid-tested, theme-based projects that will have kids using the computer for more than playing games.

Novena to St. Jude

Oh, Holy St. Jude, Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue, rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus, friend to all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from depths of my heart and humbly beg you to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias. I promise publication, St. Jude pray for all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena must be said for nine consecutive days. Many thanks for favors received. E.G.

THANK YOU

Flu season immunization scheduled

by the end of October.

In Alberta, vaccine is provided free of charge for all individuals who fall within the following groups:

People at high risk:

(a) anyone age 65 years or older

(b) anyone with chronic heart disease

(c) anyone with chronic lung disease including asthma, emphysema, cystic fibrosis

(d) individuals with chronic conditions such as diabetes and other metabolic diseases, cancer, immunodeficiency (including HIV), renal disease, anemia, plus those on medication or treatment that suppress the immune response

(e) anyone between 6 months and 18 years of age who is receiving long-term ASA therapy

(f) residents of nursing homes and other chronic care facilities

People who may transmit "flu" to those at high risk:

(a) health care workers who have extensive face-to-face contact with high-risk patients

(b) household contacts of high risk individuals

Each health unit office will be holding Flu Immunization Clinics. Here in Elk Point, this will be held at the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre on October 14 and 22, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. No appointments or prescriptions are needed for these special clinics.

Other individuals may also benefit from receiving an annual influenza immunization. Yearly influenza immunization for healthy working adults has been shown to decrease work absenteeism because of respiratory and other illnesses. However, immunization for this purpose is not available through the provincial program and must be purchased. This can be arranged through the local health unit office.

Side effects from the immunization are minimal: slight tenderness at the site of the injection; slight elevation of temperature; chills; headache or mild nausea. These would occur in the first 24 hours following immunization. It is advised not to plan any extra physical exertion or consumption of alcohol on the same day as receiving the immunization as this may increase the level of side effects experienced. Any individual who has a severe allergy to eggs or egg products should not receive the influenza immunization.

REMINDER TO PARENTS OF TEENS AND CHILDREN: products containing ASA (ie. aspirin) should not be used to treat flu symptoms (or chicken-pox) as there is a potential risk of development of Reye's Syndrome — a rare but serious disease involving the brain and liver.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact your local health unit office at 724-3532, or consult with your doctor. Remember, vaccine should be given before the end of October.
